DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

The following is a quotation of the first paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall contain a written description of the invention, and of the manner and process of making and using it, in such full, clear, concise, and exact terms as to enable any person skilled in the art to which it pertains, or with which it is most nearly connected, to make and use the same and shall set forth the best mode contemplated by the inventor of carrying out his invention.

Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, first paragraph, as failing to comply with the written description requirement. The claims contains subject matter which was not described in the specification in such a way as to reasonably convey to one skilled in the relevant art that the inventor, at the time the application was filed, had possession of the claimed invention. There is no support in the original specification for amended claim language such as: "second" (claim 1, line 32), "and a desired time between generation of the food lowering command signal and when the upper limit value of the sensed temperature would be reached" (claim 1, lines 33-35), etc. This is a new matter rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claims 1-8 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Wenger (US 4,574,185). The patent to Wenger discloses the claimed subject matter except for the precise control design for the food lowering command. However, such specific design features are considered obvious features that are deemed an obvious matter of design choice and well within the ordinary skill in the art and it would have been further obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have provided such an obvious design feature as claimed along with the features variously recited in the dependent claims, since applicant has not disclosed that such design features solve any stated problem and it appears that the invention would perform equally well to fry or cook food. The remaining limitations would then have been obvious design choices only.

Double Patenting

The nonstatutory double patenting rejection is based on a judicially created doctrine grounded in public policy (a policy reflected in the statute) so as to prevent the unjustified or improper timewise extension of the "right to exclude" granted by a patent and to prevent possible harassment by multiple assignees. A nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting rejection is appropriate where the conflicting claims are not identical, but at least one examined application claim is not patentably distinct from the reference claim(s) because the examined application claim is either anticipated by, or would have been obvious over, the reference claim(s). See, e.g., In re Berg, 140 F.3d 1428, 46 USPQ2d 1226 (Fed. Cir. 1998); In re Goodman, 11 F.3d 1046, 29 USPQ2d 2010 (Fed. Cir. 1993); In re Longi, 759 F.2d 887, 225 USPQ 645 (Fed. Cir. 1985); In re Van Ornum, 686 F.2d 937, 214 USPQ 761 (CCPA 1982); In re Vogel, 422 F.2d 438, 164 USPQ 619 (CCPA 1970); and In re Thorington, 418 F.2d 528, 163 USPQ 644 (CCPA 1969).

A timely filed terminal disclaimer in compliance with 37 CFR 1.321(c) or 1.321(d) may be used to overcome an actual or provisional rejection based on a nonstatutory double patenting ground provided the conflicting application or patent either is shown to be commonly owned with this application, or claims an invention made as a result of activities undertaken within the scope of a joint research agreement.

Effective January 1, 1994, a registered attorney or agent of record may sign a terminal disclaimer. A terminal disclaimer signed by the assignee must fully comply with 37 CFR 3.73(b).

Claims 1-8 are rejected on the ground of nonstatutory obviousness-type double patenting as being unpatentable over the claims of US Patent 6,427,580. Although the conflicting claims are not identical, they are not patentably distinct from each other because the claims are merely an obvious variation of the other set of claims of US 6,427,580.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments filed January 14, 2009 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive. Applicant states on page 7 of the remarks that "claims 1-8 have been canceled without prejudice". On page 6 of the amendment, applicant inserted "Claims 9-19 (Canceled)". It is unclear with respect to the record of this application as to what claims are pending in this application, if any. However, claims 1-8 were treated on the merits, as amended, and rejected as applied above. Thus, clarification to the record of claims pending in this application is urgently requested.
